Exhibits Program

The International Symposium on Consumer Electronics (ISCE 2007) will bring together top technical professionals from the consumer electronics industry and academia to Dallas during the week of June 20th 2007.

ISCE 2007 will provide a forum for researchers, system developers, and service providers to share ideas, designs, and experiences on the emerging technology. ISCE 2007 will be held in Dallas, Texas, USA, hosted by the Dallas Chapter of the IEEE Consumer Electronics Society.

The Industry Exhibits Program presents an opportunity for corporations to help maintain low conference registration costs by donating to the Consumer Electronics Society. In turn, the Exhibitors receive high visibility as global leaders in technology.

The Exhibits program, with the Wi-Fi Cyber Café, provides a focal point for all the attendees to network and for companies to display their products. The exhibits enhance the mission of the IEEE Consumer Electronics Society of creating a "Global Village" in the 21st century.

The coffee breaks of the conference will be in the exhibits area, providing ample opportunities for the conference attendees and the exhibitors to network and discuss.
